DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 32-40, 42 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Satran et al. (6164878).

Satran et al. discloses a cutting tool holder, comprising at least one insert pocket (52) in the tool holder, and at least one antirotation stop corresponding to at least one said insert pocket, wherein the antirotation stop comprises substantially planar surfaces (66,68, 70); wherein the pocket further comprises a bottom surface and three substantially planar surfaces that are substantially perpendicular to the bottom surface. The antirotation stop is integral to the bottom surface and a side surface of the insert pocket, and each of the insert pockets comprises a side wall for engaging an insert (10). Further the antirotation stop indexes the cutting insert and protrudes from a side wall of the pocket. With respect to claims 32 and 33, the Satran et al reference inherently discloses the method.

Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3722

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 48-63 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Satran et al ('878).

With respect to claims 48, 58, 62 and 63, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the recess of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al, 149 USPQ 47. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

With respect to claim 49, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed material since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

In regard to claims 59 and 60, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to locate the antirotation stop in the claimed location since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/16/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., details of the spherical portion of the insert) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show an antirotation stop that protrudes from a side wall of the insert pocket; the examiner directs applicant's attention to figure 4 of Satran et al. ('878) wherein the antirotation stop comprises substantially planar surfaces (66,68, 70); wherein the pocket further comprises a bottom surface and three substantially planar surfaces that are substantially perpendicular to the bottom surface. The antirotation stop is integral to the bottom surface and a side surface of the insert pocket, and each of the insert pockets comprises a side wall for engaging an insert (10).

With respect to applicant's argument concerning tangential milling, what defines the top pocket? It is unclear as to how this is accomplished.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
